

E-Learning with the KERN Lingo™ language learning platform

INFO SHEET

Do you want to learn a foreign language free from traditional courses and fixed deadlines, consolidate your knowledge, or simply invest more time in language training? Are you looking for a user-friendly language learning software? We can offer you a flexible option! With the e-learning solution KERN Lingo™, you can manage your learning time yourself. With this application-specific training, we guarantee you great training efficiency and lots of fun while learning.

In addition, you can keep an eye on your progress and successes using the dashboard function. Depending on company-internal rules, the HR department has access so that it can keep an eye on users' progress.

The self-learning platform can be quickly and conveniently be combined with other online courses as a blended-learning measure, such as KERN Virtual™. Both training forms have an online component and can be optimally adjusted to each other. You thus benefit from flexibility of scheduling in terms of time and place. We'd be delighted to advise you about combining our e-learning courses! The learning software is a complement to our diverse and comprehensive offer of language and communication training. With KERN Lingo™, you can build on your existing language knowledge.

Your benefits at a glance:

- pick your own time and place to study
- learn at your own speed
- individual choice of relevant content
- can be combined optimally with other courses
- Learning languages online
- Available for the following languages: French, German, English, Spanish and Italian
- Connection to internal LMS possible

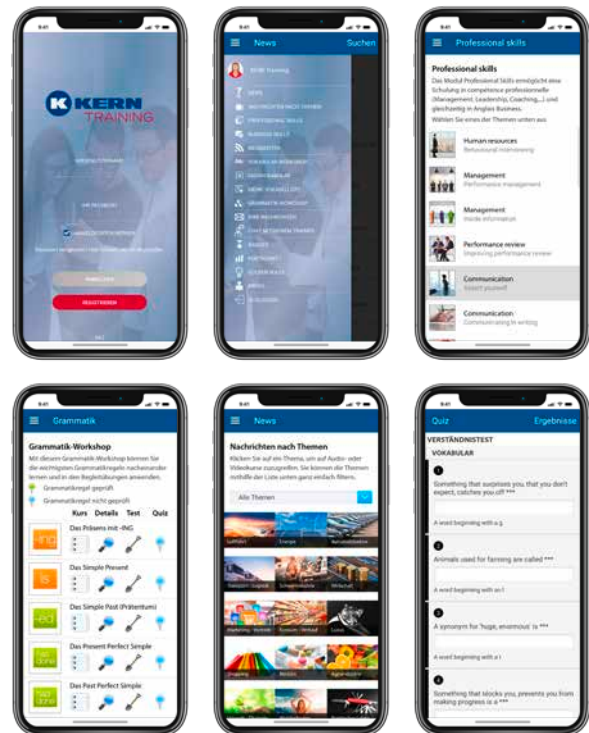

Flexible learning with the self-learning platform

E-Learning training offers the advantage of being able to decide for yourself where and when you can schedule time for a language exercise. In addition, exercises are adapted to your CEF level. Do you find business texts difficult to read? Then focus specifically on this topic and improve step by step! Our qualified language trainers are happy to support you with this and can recommend appropriate content and pass on helpful tips.

Software for specialists and corporate clients

For companies and employees, our e-learning platform KERNLingo™ Language skills can be needed on a personal as well as professional level. Here, people increasingly need language qualifications in the workplace so they can communicate with foreign business partners. On the platform, you can develop your language skills on current business topics, specialist topics and general topics and define them as suits you to be optimally prepared for using your language skills on the job! Additionally KERN Lingo™ used as a global corporate training measure for international branches abroad.
